Reflection on 1 Corinthians 1:1-9

The Christian congregation that had been gathered in the city of Corinth was, as far as we can tell, a very diverse group of people. The blessing of diversity brought them different perspectives and a strength but is also brought strife and conflict. The Apostle Paul, who had been instrumental at bringing the message of Jesus to this area, was used by God to assemble and teach the first believers. It is fitting that he was moved to write a letter to the people who gathered in that group of new believers with some instructions, encouragement, and correction. He addresses his letter, 'to those who are sanctified in Christ Jesus, called to be saints, together with all those who in every place call on the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, both their Lord and ours'. In those few words Paul attempts to focus their attention on the fact that they are part of a much greater whole and that they live under a calling toward further sanctification. He is setting out, in these introductory words, to address the growing division between the various factions that have arisen with the Corinthian fellowship. He reminds them of their connection with Jesus the Christ and Jesus promise to bring them into a full and fulfilling relationship with God.

The short passage ends with the words, 'he will also strengthen you to the end, so that you may be blameless on the day of our Lord Jesus Christ. God is faithful; by him you were called into the fellowship of his Son, Jesus Christ our Lord.' Over the next few weeks the lectionary includes some of the passages from this important letter that speaks of the importance of unity. As we enter the beginning days of the Week of Prayer for Christian Unity the letter to the Corinthians form a very suitable focus for meditation and prayer.

1. What benefits do you see coming from the diversity that exists in most congregations?
2. Are there sources of tensions due to this diversity in your congregation/family/workplace?
3. Does the idea of being a part of a much larger community help you stay focused unity?

The Week of Prayer for Christian Unity begins on Monday January 19. The link below will take you to a resource for daily prayer.

Part of Archdeacon Glen's duties as interim is to help initiate the process of searching for the next incumbent, a process called Concurrence. In order to help people understand the process, Archdeacon Glen has prepared a presentation to be made to those who are interested in learning more. If this is you, please let Archdeacon Glen know by leaving your name and contact information in the Church office with the words, "Concurrence Committee" somewhere on the note.

Concurrence Committee

YOU ARE NEEDED! In order to keep our church functioning well, we need your assistance. The number of people volunteering as sidespeople, greeters, eucharistic assistants, crucifers, after-church coffee preparers has dwindled, and we need help.

Men, women, youth - all are welcome and needed. If everyone who is able, were to take on one of these tasks, the load for each would be light. Training will be provided and a new recruit would work with an experienced person to start.

Please talk to Mary Donato at church, or leave your name in the office and she will contact you.

COMMUNICATIONS LEAD NEEDED

Epiphany is in the process of updating and upgrading its social media presence (web site, Instagram and FaceBook initially) in order to reach out to as many potential church members as possible and to help current parishioners stay informed. We are looking for someone to oversee this area of the church's communications plan. This person would not be expected to do the IT work themselves, but rather lead and oversee the communications upgrade in this area. If you are able to help please contact Carrie at the church office.

WOMEN'S BIBLE STUDY

We meet from noon until 1 pm in the Algoma Room. Tea and coffee are provided. Some like to bring their lunch; others don't. This is a very welcoming group and if you would like to try it out, please do join us. If possible, please bring slippers or shoes to avoid a wet mess on the floor.

What did Outreach "do" in 2025?
